

Artya Farfalla: A Truly Unique Watch With a Dial Capturing the Colourful Beauty of Butterflies

Lepidopterists are those guys who collect and preserve moths and butterflies under glass for easy observation. Artya watches have taken this hobby and beautifully incorporated it into their watches. Sounds interesting, right! They have taken the wings from butterflies and made it into a colourful collage under a sapphire crystal. No harm was done to these lovely insects as all were already post mortem. This collection is called the Farfalla Collection, Farfalla meaning butterfly in Italian.

Artya developed a special technique to create this butterfly watch. Clients can pick out the palette that they want. The watch obviously doesn't scream out that its dial is made up of butterfly wings but then it can be a great conversation maker. All of the watches are handmade and are intended for both men and women. These one-of-a-kind watches are placed in equally one-of-a-kind "Coup de foudre" cases. The Farfalla watches have a self winding movement and has been manufactured entirely in Switzerland.

They have a power reserve of 42 hours, a steel case and 2 years guarantee. This watch does
